1. Records requested

- (a) Call detail records, including time of outgoing and incoming calls, the other party's number, and call duration.
- (b) Internet session logs, including session start and end times, serving cell site, and assigned IP address.
- (c) Billing records, including subscriber name, address and payment history.
- (d) Cell site location records.

2. Legal basis

Issued under Article 11-1 of the Communication Security and Surveillance Act for the disclosure of communications records and subscriber data.

The telecommunications enterprise served with this order shall comply and may not refuse without good cause.

3. Notes

The period stated above is set by the needs of the investigation and has not been checked against the statutory retention period of each record type.

Where the retention period has expired and part of the period cannot be produced, the enterprise shall state the retention period for that record type and the period it can in fact produce. It may not refuse the order in its entirety on that ground.

Material produced shall be treated as confidential and used only for this investigation.

This document is a fictitious example for training purposes. The issuing authority and reference number are not real.
